Democratic Municipal Rally at Armory Hall To-Night.

The supporters of the White Democratic ticket will hold their first meeting in the present city campaign at armory hall to-night.

The Journal hopes to see a large gathering present and it feels sure that all who attend will enjoy a pleasant and a profitable evening.

The speakers who will address the gathering are all well known and representative gentlemen. Senator Malory will make the opening speech and he will be followed by Hon. Jno. S. Beard, Judge J. Emmet Wolfe, and the Democratic candidate for mayor, Hon. Chas. H. Bliss.

The interest which the ladies all over the city have been taking in the success of the White Democratic campaign has been very gratifying, and the ladies are therefore especially invited to be present to-night. Good music will be rendered, good speeches will be made, and it is the intention to spare no pains to make a pleasant evening for everyone who attends.

Jno. N. C. Stockton to Secure Jacksonville Sun.

The following from the news columns of Monday's Jacksonville Metropolis will be read with interest by the state press:

F. M. Stoneman, of Miami, is in the city in consultation with J. N. C. Stockton and others with a view to securing the Florida Daily Sun, edited by Claude L'Engle, who this morning tendered his resignation as editor, vice-president and director of the Sun Publishing Company to take effect immediately. City Editor Reese also resigned.

Mr. L'Engle informed a Metropolis reporter that Mr. Sutherland, who owned the paper, notified him the paper would be sold to-day to J. N. C. Stockton.

Mr. Stockton, when asked by a Metropolis reporter if he had bought the Sun replied:

"I am not a fit subject for Chattanooga. I have retired to private life and am now engaged in business."

Regarding the proposed deal, F. M. Stoneman, who was seen by a Metropolis reporter this afternoon, stated that nothing definite had been done in the premises and that the deal was not fully consummated. He declared that in his opinion nothing further regarding the deal would be made until to-morrow. It is known that Mr. Stoneman has visited the city recently in connection with the matter, as a change has been discussed by interested parties for three weeks past.

J. M. Barra, who was with Mr. Stoneman, says that he is not in the deal whatever, and could give no information regarding the matter.

From this it appears that Mr. Stockton will again become an active figure in the politics of the state and that the Sun will in all probability become what is known as an anti-corporation paper.

The members of the state press will regret to lose Claude L'Engle, even temporarily, and it is to be hoped that he may soon get back into the harness again. He is one of the brightest newspaper writers in the whole south and he will have no difficulty in securing a place on some high-class paper.

almost to the time of his death he was engaged in fighting secession and freeing the slaves. He was an impressive personality, but it would be untrue to say that either the north or south was better for his having lived.

A Bay Minette special to the Mobile Herald says: "Change cars for all points on the Bay Minette and Fort Morgan" is now the daily cry on all passenger trains on the Louisville and Nashville coming into Bay Minette. The travel on this road is far beyond the expectations of its builders, though the first train was run less than a week ago. Already about twenty solid cars of potatoes have been shipped, and next year it is believed that there will be whole train loads of Baldwin county potatoes shipped over this line and on to northern points.

PERT PARAGRAPHS FROM MR. BRYAN'S COMMONER.

The man who has "nothing to arbitrate" is usually in the wrong.

Republican reform of the tariff continues to do a remarkable stunt of Patrowing.

It seems, too, that Mr. Bigelow also had his Goli with him in that little investment deal.

Rev. Dr. Gladson seems determined to call Mr. Carnegie's attention to the necessity of providing pensions for oil kings.

It appears that neither Mr. Hyde nor Mr. Alexander are quite big enough to hold down the lid on the Equitable scandal.

The terrible Cossacks have again pulled off a great victory. They attacked a procession of peaceable laborers and killed hundreds.

Secretary Morton and Secretary Taft might secure the services of President Roosevelt in their little squabble over freight rate regulation.

H. C. Frick is reported as being anxious to enter the United States senate. This is calculated to make Senator Penrose do some strenuous thinking.

It seems that Secretary Loeb "cut the bases" in his recent home run. The Omaha empire tried to decide against him, but it was no use. The secretary scored.

A leader in New York society recently gave a "clown dinner" at the Waldorf-Astoria. The attendance was large and thoroughly representative of the Four Hundred.

The packers are elevating the price of dressed beef, which fact indicates that the packers misunderstood the real views of the people concerning the Garfield report.

Mr. Shonts says that the canal will be built on the same principle as a railroad. Does this mean the investment of $3 for water for every dollar invested in actual work?

The American Economist devotes considerable space in discussing "The Value of Reciprocity." Republican managers have learned that its chief value lies in its use during campaign times.

Dr. Gladson's reference to "cogged dice" and "stacked cards" gives some idea of how the reverend gentleman learned to deliver those telling "left hooks" and "upper cuts."

Henry H. Rogers asks, "Why do so many foolish men go into the ministry?" Mr. Rogers is mistaken if he thinks such foolish questions will side-track the real issue.

The people will notice that the price of wheat was high while the farmers had no wheat to sell, and that it suddenly dropped before the farmers had an opportunity to raise a new crop.

Secretary Morton's friends announce that he is not the man to "retire under fire." That is a bit of mock heroics usually indulged in by the man who has been "caught with the goods."

Mr. Schwab guarantees the car a navy of 20 per cent greater efficiency than any navy now in existence. The holders of steel common and ship building preferred doubtless would gladly testify to Mr. Schwab's ability as a per center.

NEWS AND VIEWS FROM STATE PAPERS.

Memorial to Joseph Jefferson.

West Palm Beach claims the distinction of offering the first memorial to the late Joseph Jefferson, and the ladies of the Library Association are the promoters of the very timely enterprise.

It will be remembered that several weeks ago there was on exhibition in the show windows of M. E. Gruger's store a panel of burr wood, descriptive of Rip Van Winkle, the Catskills, the work having been executed by none other than Mr. Henry Pettitt, whose various works of art are to be seen in many places in this city. The panel was later placed on exhibition in the art department of the Dade County Fair, where it was greatly admired.

Later it was presented by Mr. Pettitt to the Library Association, where it now hangs prominently on the walls. Recently Mr. Pettitt has been induced to place at the bottom of the panel the inscription: "In Memoriam of Joseph Jefferson, Born 1829. Died 1905. The Friend of West Palm Beach."

The words of the inscription are simple, but they speak volumes and voice the sentiment of every citizen of the place.—West Palm Beach Sun.

Let Justice Be Done.

If the horrible conditions exist in the State Insane Asylum at Chattanooga, as reported by the investigating committee to the senate, those in authority who are responsible for them, should immediately be made to feel the heavy hand of the law. There should be no delay. Let the guilty receive their just deserts.—Arcadia News.

Will Do Much Good.

Whether the insurance bill now pending in the Legislature passes or not, its discussion will be productive of much good as bringing to light the enormous disproportion of the amounts sent out of the state every year for premiums and the comparative pittance that comes back in the way of payment of losses. If the measure went further and provided for state fire insurance as well as life insurance it would be that much the better.—DeFunak Breeze.

Not Enthusiastic.

It is evident that the Florida Legislature is not very enthusiastic in regard to prohibition legislation. Perhaps having to stay in Tallahassee under a prohibitory regime has had an influence in this matter.—Plant City Courier.
